How to Print From an iPad

Printing With AirPrint Printing with HP ePrint Printing with Google Cloud Print

There are a few different ways to print documents and images from your iPad. AirPrint is the most common and powerful way, as it is integrated with almost all Apple apps. If you don't have an AirPrint printer, there are still ways to print your files. Follow this guide to get started.

Method 1 of 3: Printing With AirPrint

1 Install the printer. In order to print to an AirPrint printer, it must be connected to the same wireless network as your iPad. Each printer has a specific way to connect it to the network, but generally you'll need to ensure that the network name and password are entered correctly.

Method 2 of 3: Printing with HP ePrint

- 1 Install your printer. If you are using an HP printer that supports network printing but doesn't support AirPrint, you can use the HP ePrint app to print from your iPad.

- Connect your printer to your network. You may need to install the drivers on a computer first in order to properly install the printer. Make sure that the network name and password are entered correctly.

- 2 Install the ePrint app. The HP ePrint app is free on the App Store. You will need to activate the program with a valid email address.

- 4 Register your email and cloud services. You can add email and cloud accounts to ePrint, which will allow you to print emails and documents from those locations. To add an email account, click the Email button on the top bar. To add a cloud account, such as Dropbox or Google Drive, tap the Cloud button on the top bar.

- You can use the built-in web browser to navigate and print websites.
- To print a Pages document, open the document and click the wrench icon. Tap the Share and Print menu, then select Open in Another App. You will be asked what format you would like to convert the file to. Choose whichever format you prefer. Once the format has been chosen, tap the Choose

App button, then select HP ePrint.

- 5 Print your document. You can adjust color and number of copies with the Print Settings button on the bottom of the screen. Once you have adjusted your settings, tap Print to print the document. After a few moments, your document will begin printing.

Method 3 of 3: Printing with Google Cloud Print

- 1 Install your printer. You will need to have your printer properly connected to the wireless network, and installed on a computer on that network. That computer must also have Google Chrome installed.
