Pam's Notes

Good chilly morning,

Again I am complaining ...or maybe that's I'm STILL complaining. It's cold and rainy here. What is the problem, Mother Nature??? Weathermen predict rain for the next week. Summer, where are you??

I did hear from a couple of Tipsters this week. The Standbergs returned from their wonderful European trip and migrated North to Iowa.

Hi

A little more excitement.

We got an early start from Denton Tx and kept on driving with my heavy lead foot. Arrived in Mason City about 9 pm.

Then the "fun" began. All 4 smoke CO detectors were beeping. We had no idea why so we called fire dept. three guys checked out the house and decided that the detectors were out of date, Jensen the beeping.

However, one kept beeping. No one could find it. Remember the game "Statue" where you yell Freeze and everyone stops?

Picture this: 3 firefighters and Chuck trying to find it. All go to bedroom. Freeze! Beep! All go to hallway. Freeze! Beep! All go to kitchen. Freeze! Beep! All look through the artificial flowers. Freeze. Beep! I wish I could stop, but it continues. All go to the closets. Freeze. Beep! All return to dining room. Freeze. Beep! Finally one opens the wine cupboard door and finds the elusive beeper. I finally was able to let my laugh escape. Keystone cops came to mind.

We are reorganizing our life now for the summer. See you all in the fall. Keep smiling.

Wishing all a Happy Memorial Weekend....

Pam
