The front exit gate is being refabricated with a new controller and will hopefully be done sometime this week.

Pam's Notes

Happy Columbus Day!

We're in Houston and day 2 of test and scans almost through. They are running me through the hoops before I start this new drug trial. I have another day of test and then the infusion on Thursday. We will return to the Tip on Friday.

It was suggested that I remind all of you returning that Sioux exit is closed and one must exit Nolana and travel the frontage road if you're coming from the North on 281. If you're coming in from the East on 2 (or 83 as we used to say) there, too is construction. You can exit Veterans, but the traffic is usually backlogged due to lanes having to merge together. I'm afraid we will have to put up with this for the total season.

We're glad to see more residents returning. We're hoping to have a great winter with things returning to somewhat normal.

Safe travels to all. Have a good week. Pam
