Notes from the Monday Morning Coffee and Conversation 6-12-23

Marilyn had the coffee ready and opened the conversation at 9am. Resident health update:

Pam Brown is in Houston receiving radiation treatments for her cancer. Hopefully she will be home between treatments.

Sally's daughter Betsey is still struggling with her cancer treatments and the family lost a niece last week.

Nancy Rickert is home and is receiving IV antibiotics at home. She is doing ok but is tired.

Joy Ochs is having some good days and some bad days.

Nina Insell (SP?) passed away in late May.

Betty Mauck, Vic White and those residents who are still struggling need our prayers. We also should remember those of our friends who need our prayers and can't ask for them.

Marilyn wanted to include a request for each and every caregiver, they struggle, sometimes alone, and need our prayers too.

AI updated Marilyn:

Pam's Notes

Good Tuesday Morning from Houston,

Down to two radiations, today and tomorrow, and hopefully back to the Tip. Again, like always, the Good Lord has looked over me and still without any pain. I do have some light headedness, but hoping that will go away. Pete is doing fine and we even golfed a couple of times while we were here.

John O'brien has been kind enough to post more obituaries for us on the FYITOT website. We greatly thank you, John.

I missed last week informing you that good friend, Joan Cuda, passed from her long time fight with cancer. Both she and her husband, Ed, Contributed much to our park. They are both sadly missed.

Wishing you a good week.....Remember God is Good, All the time!! Pam
