We do have good news concerning Larry Booth. Here is in update thru e-mails from Bob Faasen:

We just got back from the hospital and Larry is resting well in ICU. (picture attached) The operation was a success. He did have a headache, but they have him medicated pretty good, so we only said hi and left him to rest. He told JoAnn right after the operation that he could already move his leg better. We hope to be on our way back to the valley Monday if possible.

Best regards,

Bob & Jenny Faasen

We made it home to the TIP last night with Larry & JoAnn. He made the trip well. As I previously said his surgery went well and the doctor said it was a success. Now here is what we learned yesterday prior to his release. The implanted electrodes are not yet active. He must return after healing for about 2 weeks. They will then install the battery required and calibrate them for performance. So for the time being Larry will remain on his current medicine.

Regards,

Bob & Jenny Faasen

And then I've heard from other tip residents, Mary Kosta wrote:

You'll be happy to hear that not only is Larry home, he was down at the shop drilling some holes on Tuesday. Ralph says he is walking much better.

We arrived in the Valley Friday night late. Ralph has been busy repairing the damages caused by the thief. Have a safe trip down. We are in the 90's this week, but expect a cool-down this weekend. See you soon.

Mary

I talked to Larry on Monday morning and he sounded like his old self.....which was a good thing!!! We are looking forward to seeing him on the courts and also in his fishing boat, riding his bike, playing bridge, in the woodshop, etc. etc. You just can't keep a good man down!

I had several notes from those who were concerned with Larry's progress:

Dear Pam,

It's good to hear about Larry. Dad had told me a little about what Larry was having done, but I didn't know any details, other than it was complicated surgery. Thanks for the note. I will look forward to further progress reports.

I don't expect to get to the Tip until after Christmas this year, but, I am already getting itchy for tennis, bridge, and all the other activities, as well as the sun and warmth. See you then.

Thanks for the update Pam.. Prayers are powerful and very glad to hear that they helped Larry have a successful operation and that he will have a speedy recovery. Yes he is a great guy and like you said always willing to help others.
Rene.

Pam--Thanks for the update on Larry. I don't know if I have his email address. Would you send it to me.

My ankle has finally healed--somewhat. Now I have to get thru the stiffness, but that is getting less and less. We've spent most of the last month in Ohio caring for my dying mother. It was a challenge for me with the crutches and the 4+ pound boot, but my sister and I got thru this with the help of husbands and grandchildren and Hospice. My mother would have been 96 next week, she had a good life.

Thanks for all the MMM. I think I have a few that I didn't have time to open recently, but I'm going to do a catch-up.

See you soon, Dot Simon

Not to change the subject, but an interesting note from John Belike:

Pam.....and all other TOT friends...

The pics attached are what we woke up to this morning....Oct. 10th. Now, I can understand the possibility of our Canadian friends waking up to this.....but in Nebraska on Oct. 10th! And of course the water hoses are all connected yet.....and the temp this morning 25 degrees! Well, of course the phrase that echoes thru our house....Why did we wait so long to go down to Texas! This white stuff may come to IL. and also to other towns near you in the next few weeks.....so be warned. In spite of this early warning, we are still about a month away from our trek to Texas.

John and Nancy Beilke freezing in Nebraska!

I think John and Nancy have waited way too long before heading to the Tip. Keep that white stuff away from Illinois. I was griping enough about a little frost!

With that I'll close, but I do want you to keep Jack Robinson in your prayers as well as all of those still on the medical report. We do wish Cyndi Ferguson a quick recovery from knee replacement surgery. She went under the knife somewhere in McAllen today.

Have a good week. Pam
