Update on my dad, Shorty Hancock, 29 year resident of the Tip. Dad entered hospital week ago last Monday with congestive heart failure. Lots of swelling and no energy. With Lasik and a chest drain he was released on Friday only to return that night unable to breathe. He has undergone several procedures and was put on a ventilator along with chest tube. Ventilator has been removed. He was awake, was able to eat some jello and conversed with us normally yesterday evening. Praying he will continue with his slow recovery.

Many are returning to Tip daily. Hope to see more of you soon. Pam
