We're still on the move. What a 17 day trip. On our way back from Lake Louise, Canada, while soaking in Radium Hot Springs, we decided to take a trip back in time and visit our old skiing spot, Durango, CO. On the way south we stopped at Arches National Park. What a fabulous place. We were amazed of the rock formations and the beautiful red rock. If you have the chance to take that fork in the road, don't miss it.

We have been marking off all the states we've visited and realized we hadn't been to New Mexico. Being that close, we decided to visit 4 Corners, USA. We tried to be in all four states at one time, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, and Colorado.

We rode the old steam engine driven train from Durango to Silverton. What a blast from the past...except we were covered with soot and cinders making us look like we had black dandruff.

Now we're on the way home. We're not the only ones on the move. Bob and Jenny are on the Bicycle Trek across Iowa. If you happen to be friends with them on Facebook you can track their travels.

Phyllis Thackery dropped me a nice note:

looks like you are having a great summer. After a rough start to my summer with 4 days in the hospital, I am now feeling great and am on day 11 of a 14 day trip through the western states including Zion, Bryce, grand Tetons, Yellowstone, Jackson, Mount Rushmore, Badlands, Denver and today we are on route to Vail and Moab. Our last stop is the Grand Canyon!!

Will be back to the RGV for about 5 days and then leave for Kenya!

I have several posts on Facebook. I enjoy your emails.

Blessings

Phyll

I envious of your travels to Kenya....Africa's still on my bucket list.

Marvin and Zela should soon be home from their River Cruise. Marvin wrote from Germany:

Hello from Germany,

we are in our 6th day and are having a great cruise. beautiful scenery and wonderful weather, lots cooler than texas weather. only one little glitsch, the workers at the first lock on the river were on strike and we had to pack up and be bussed to another ship on the other side of the lock so we could continue, but everything seems fine now (we hope) .seeing lots of palaces and castles. food and service is wonderful, will have to go on a diet when we get home. we hear it may be raining in dallas, hope so.

If you haven't been on TOT website for awhile, check out the new pictures. Seems like we had a stranger in or near the pool. I'm sure there were a few screams and giggles heard.

I had a note from the Collins':

I am so impressed that you are visiting my beautiful country. Gary and I were passing through Lake Louise he end of June. Had a wedding to go to in Jasper. Gary and I were also going to Banff when the day after the flood in Calgary and Canmore. The wedding was to be in Canmore be got changed to Jasper.

Your pictures look lovely. I'm glad you were able to see some of the Calgary Stampede.

Have a safe trip home.

Cheers,

Gary and Sherry

Sherry, I agree you have a beautiful country. We so enjoyed our visit to Canada.

I had better close....We have driven 4,500 miles with about 500 more to go. Have a good week. Pam
