Sorry this is so late. I finally received my new computer. My screen on the old one went caput, so I had to purchase a new one. Of course, my nephew, who teaches computers on the college level, thought I needed Windows 8.. Now I'm having to learn a whole new program. Doesn't the younger generation know how we hate change. Shoot, I just traded in my flip phone. Anyway, that's my excuse for this week's delay.

We've had over a week of great weather and then tonight the bottom fell. Temps dropped 30* and it's raining. The TV predicts warmer temps over the weekend, so we'll see.

Please note that we have over 700 residents in the park. This is quite something. It's the most we've had in a long time. We're so glad to see new faces. Let's welcome all newcomers and include them in the park's activities.

A reminder....Casino night Friday and appreciation day for Lavon and Jeannice Walters, past activity directors on Sunday afternoon during ice cream.

Again my apoligize for the lateness. Pam
