Hello All....sorry I'm so late this week....computer has been in the shop and it was just returned. I'm taking off tomorrow, Friday and heading south. It was only in the 40's here today and very windy. It has rained the last several days and with the winds blowing, that makes it much more miserable to be outside. Speaking of rain. Several of you have asked how the Tip fared during Hurricane Patricia. I have called and found out we had several inches of rain, but as far as I know no trailers were effected by the run off. Now we all can just hope for no leaks in our roofs. If you are friends of Marilyn on FB, you saw a cute picture of her wading in the streets with her umbrella. Of course 85* would make the rain much more tolerable.

Just a short note to say, hoping I see you all soon at the Tip. Wishing you safe travels. Pam Almost forgot....John O'brien has reported that the stop lights are up at Sioux and Sugar.....yea...
